International Conference Feature: From the Firing Lines to a Fireside Chat

Keynote Speaker Theresa Payton (pictured left), former chief information officer at the White House and founder of her consulting firm on security, risk, and fraud, will lead “From the Firing Lines to a Fireside Chat” during The IIA’s 2015 International Conference, 5–8 July in Vancouver, BC, Canada.

Protecting your organization’s digital assets is a responsibility that falls to the chief information officer and/or chief security officer. Payton offers real-life solutions from someone who has successfully done the job at the highest level in the United States. Executives will get a checklist to energize and engage their organizations in enhancing their security posture.

Payton’s session will be followed by a book signing for her new book, Privacy in the Age of Big Data.
